University of California San Diego invites you to

RIGHT-WING POPULISM AND BORDERS: A GLOBAL PERSPECTIVE

The lecture will focus on borders’ strategies in current right-wing populism, in linking with anti-immigration stances, sovereignty claims, and economic grievances. Western and Central European as well as recent U.S. experiences will be addressed.

Oscar Mazzoleni

Is a professor of political science at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland, and currently a Visiting Scholar at Columbia University, NYC. His research has been published in European Politics and Society, Government and Opposition, Party Politics, Swiss Political Science Review, Comparative European Politics, Contemporary Italian Politics, and Populism amongst others. He is co-editor of Political Populism. A Handbook (Nomos/Bloombury 2017, with R.Heinisch and C. Holz-Bacha)."