

Thesis committee composition for PhD students in the Cancer & Immunology thematic programme from A2022

IMPORTANT

- Thesis committee composition is selected by mutual agreement between the thesis director and the PhD student.
- Experts should not collaborate significantly with you during your thesis, as this may prevent them from being objective in the assessment of your work. Relatives or partners of the directors or students are not allowed as experts or representatives.
- At least one of the experts must be from outside UNIL/CHUV/Unisanté.
- The program representative who officiates as the president should be from a different department than the thesis director(s) and must be in the list of representatives can be found here: <https://www.unil.ch/cancer-immunology/home/menuinst/introduction/phd-programme-representatives.html>.
- When selecting members of your thesis committee, please inform them that they should be present in person at the mid-thesis exam and private exam, in principle. Remote participation of thesis committee members, especially external ones, could exceptionally be permitted. However, it is expected that at least the PhD student, the thesis director, and the president are present in person in the same room. NB: For the qualifying exam, which is specific to the Cancer & Immunology thematic program, the presence of the President (PhD Programme representative), the thesis director, and Expert A is required.
- This form has to be validated by Professor Fabio Martinon. Once the form is signed, it has to be sent to phdthesis@unil.ch.
