

Master in Medical Biology Poster Day

Friday, October 28, 2016

1330h – 1730h

Auditoire Auguste Tissot, CHUV

- |             |                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1230 – 1330 | Mounting of posters                                                                                                                           |
| 1330 - 1340 | Welcome address Olivier Staub                                                                                                                 |
| 1340 – 1400 | Prof. Nicolas Mermod, Director of the School of BiologyFrom an FBM start-up to a successful biotech company                               |
| 1400 – 1600 | Poster Session                                                                                                                                |
| 1615 - 1715 | KEYNOTE LECTURE:The Double Edged Sword of Notch Signaling in CancerProfessor Freddy Radtke, Professor at EPFL, Lausanne |
| 1715 – 1725 | Poster Awards, offered by                                                                                                                     |
| 1730        | Fin                                                                                                                                           |

