

1 Master ++

Master of Law (MLaw) of the universities of Zurich and Lausanne

GENERAL OUTLINE

Objectives and skills

This combined bilingual degree course allows you to complete your Master's studies in Law at the Universities of Zurich and Lausanne. Thus you will be able to improve your legal knowledge and your knowledge of legal German or French.

This course is based on the content of both Faculties' Master's programmes, and benefits from a national scope thanks to its bilingual nature.

Career prospects

This course opens the door to a wide range of professional activities. It provides access in particular to placements as a lawyer and also prepares you for various legal professions practised by public administrations, the courts, private companies and international organisations. Other positions, for example in the sectors of culture, politics or business management, are also accessible.
